

Current Exhibitions

Piers

by Caitlin Cary

Cary Arts Center Gallery

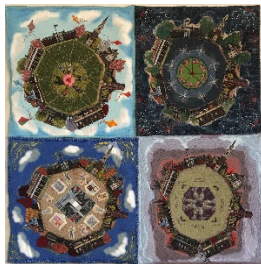

101 Dry Ave

June 15 – August 22, 2021

Medium: Fiber

Website

Since 2013, Caitlin Cary has been working in a medium for which she coined the term “Needle Print,” an intricate form of fabric collage in which cloth is affixed by machine stitch to paper or other rigid backing. Her most recent work, a series titled “Piers” focuses on the patterns and spatial complexity and “weightiness” of the undergirding of buildings, bridges, docks, dams.

Celebrate Cary

Mary Ritter

Cary Arts Center Principal's Hall

101 Dry Ave

June 15 - July 19, 2021

Medium: Fiber

Website

Quilts Celebrating Cary 150th. "Laughter is timeless, imagination has no age, and dreams are forever." -Walt Disney. Cary's leadership has taken its citizens through the decades with pleasing cultural activities, beautiful architecture, and beneficial business development. Each season brings enjoyment such as kite flying, Lazy Daze, history tours and holiday celebrations. Take a walk around town to enjoy the sites. Happy sesquicentennial, Cary!

Taking Time: Exploring the Fragile Existence of “The Moment” Through Nature

Kristin Lozoya

Page-Walker Arts & History Center

119 Ambassador Loop

June 15 - September 10, 2021

Mixed Media

Website

This collection represents my effort to be fully present in the moment with the knowledge that life by its very nature is transient. A flower blooms and will wilt one day. Honor the flower by taking in its color and fragrance today. Collection dedicated to my grandmother, Maureen Lovece.

When a Rose Is Not a Rose

Paula Montgomery

Page-Walker Arts & History Center

119 Ambassador Loop

June 15 - September 10, 2021

Mixed Media

Website

Paula Montgomery passionately transforms everyday flowers into painterly, visual poems. She uses either a lithe, expressionistic brushstrokes or a purposeful palette knife to create paintings that hover between abstraction and representation. Brushstrokes and paper contribute to Paula's unique, textured canvases. Her paintings exude a sense of peace and joy. The artist states "If my work can bring a moment of happiness to the viewer, then I feel I've accomplished something worthwhile."

Life Interrupted

Lindsey Chester

Page-Walker Arts & History Center

119 Ambassador Loop

June 15 - September 10, 2021

Acrylic and Pencil

Website

Our lives were interrupted last year. Things that had been planned were canceled, our lives took a detour inward. That interruption allowed me to grow as an artist and this show reflects a journey in style, technique, and an evolution in subject matter.

Cary Art Loop | Friday, June 25th, 6-9 p.m.

www.caryartloop.com